A very pleasant social event of the week was the "old time" party given by Miss Phena Flory at her home on Market street Tuesday evening. The guests were in costume of grandmothers' frocks and frills and the sight presented, was one of unusual interest. Contests and games were indulged in, light refreshments were served and all departed at a late hour voting Miss Flory a royal entertainer.

Internal Revenue Collector, Frank B. Niles, Toledo, Ohio, has received a ruling from Washington which allows dealers to remove chewing gum from the original stamped paste board boxes, and place the gum in display glass jars or containers. If this is done, that portion of the box containing the cancelled revenue stamp must be transferred with the gum and conspicuously displayed in the glass container. If dealers remove the gum from the stamped package Collector Niles states that great care should be taken to see that the portion of the box containing the cancelled revenue stamp accompanies the gum in order to avoid any chance of violating the law.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
Fulton County Ohio
COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION
J. F. Outalt, W. C. Koch
J. E. McClaren, W. J. Weber
C. J. Bieri, County Superintendent

THE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION will hold their next regular meeting at the office of the County Superintendent Friday, February 5. As this Board was appointed at the County meeting of board members as a committee on text books, the board probably will take up the matter of uniform text books at this meeting and be ready to report to a county meeting to be called sometime in February or March.

THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED at the same time to investigate the heating and ventilating will undoubtedly also have their report to present. There is no doubt that the heating and ventilating of the rural schools can be made equal to that of the best city schools at a small expense.

THE TEACHERS OF THE COUNTY will be interested in a ruling which the county board of examiners made at their last meeting in reference to taking the examination before the Normal training.

Teachers who had not had six weeks training in an accredited Normal School or College are the ones affected by this ruling. Such teachers will take the written examination in April and May receiving their grades, and then after presenting a certificate of Normal School work in August if satisfactory will be given No. 14 of the Million Dollar Mystery Tuesday February 2nd. Episode No. 15 Thursday February 4th.

ADVICE FROM THE VETERAN
Actor's Opinion of Ability of His Would-Be Colleague Was Not in the Least Degree Flattering.

The veteran actor, C. W. Coudock, who is probably best remembered by the theatergoers for his impersonation of Dunstan Kirk in "Hazel Kirke" many years ago, was putting a company together for a contemplated tour. The actors were to be recruited from a stock company in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Coudock, addressing one of the actors, Ogden by name, asked that gentleman to see him (Coudock) in his dressing room after the performance.

Ogden was on the job as soon as he heard the curtain bump the floor.

"Ogden," said Coudock, "what business are you supposed to be playing?"

"Second comedy, sir,"

"What dollars a week, sir?"

"How much do you pay for board?"

"Five dollars a week, sir."

"Well," said Coudock, very slowly, "if I was a young man and my name was Ogden, and I was getting $12 a week and paid $5 for board, I'd try to put by a little each week, say, 50 cents (even if I had to give up some of my beer) till I got $2.50."

"And then?" said the jubilant Ogden.

"I'd go to a good second-hand store and buy a good hatchet and chop my head off."

P. S.—Ogden wasn't engaged.—Chicago Journal.

Doll Collectors.

A great many people collect dolls for their own pleasure, and at the moment the collection of china puppets is popular. A variety to add to the store the newly introduced pandemonium folk, charmingly rendered in the traditional raiment of the old-world Christmas time.

Columbine is the demurest little lady with a mid-Victorian charm; her sleek black hair is parted in the center and she has on a white frock looped up with bunches or rosebuds and foliage. She is poised on tiptoes and looks, with her downcast eyes and folded hands, the picture of fascination and coquetry. Harlequin is just a rascal in a red and blue costume, slender as a reed, inconspicuous, all-complaining. His parti-colored and skin-tight suit is a vivid contrast to pool of pantaloons white and baggy clothing, and to that subservient and much injured agent is given just the expression of a sniggering smile to make him the butt of their foolish jokes.

The Higher Life.

A big Chicago concern has solved the problem which confronts many large business houses of providing a recreation spot for their employees, by utilizing the roof of its new building. In one section of the space the men and boys play indoor baseball behind strong wire netting. A continuation of this space, roofed over and furnished with plenty of comfortable chairs and settees and made attractive with flowers and palms, is a lounge room and smoker; and this opens into the dining-room.

Rooms for the use of women employees, a library and a rest room and an emergency hospital are on the other side of the building, and open from this section in a roof garden, exclusively for women's use. Windy walks are bordered with flowers and palms, and in them the women and girls may saunter during their recreation hour, gaze far out over the city and lake, and forget the "nerves" sharpened by the daily grind.

TYPOS AT EXPOSITION.

Eight thousand members of the International Typographical Union are expected to visit San Diego Exposition, which opened here New Year's Eve, during August of this year. The Union's convention will be held in Los Angeles August 9-14, and the close of the meeting, the delegates and visitors will come to this city on special trains to spend several days at the Exposition. H. W. Coudock, secretary of the general committee for the convention, who has been in San Diego, went away greatly impressed with the city and its surroundings, and with the firm resolution to bring every possible member of the Union to the convention and the Exposition next summer.

MARKETING WORLD'S GREATEST PROBLEM

WE ARE LONG ON PRODUCTION SHORT ON DISTRIBUTION.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The economic distribution of farm products is today the world's greatest problem and the war, while it has brought its hardships, has clearly emphasized the importance of distribution as a factor in American agriculture and promises to give the farmer the co-operation of the government and the business men the solution of their marketing problem.

This result will, in a measure, compensate us for our war losses, for the business interests and government have been in the main assisting almost exclusively on the production side of agriculture. While the department of agriculture has been dumping tons of literature on the farmer telling him how to produce, the farmer has been dumping tons of products in the nation's garbage can for want of a market.

The World Will Never Starve.

At no time since Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden have the inhabitants of this world suffered from lack of production, but some people have gone hungry from the day of creation to this good hour for the lack of proper distribution.

Slight variations in production have forced a change in diet
